

Center for Coordination of Scientific and Technological Cooperation Projects IRIAS
Coordination of RAS Projects

Center for Coordination of Scientific and Technological Cooperation Projects operates within the structure of the International Research Institute for Management Problems (IRIAS, established in 1976) in the status of an international intergovernmental organization endowed with international legal personality, governed by the current intergovernmental agreement and the 1980 Budapest Convention.

The main activities of the Center:

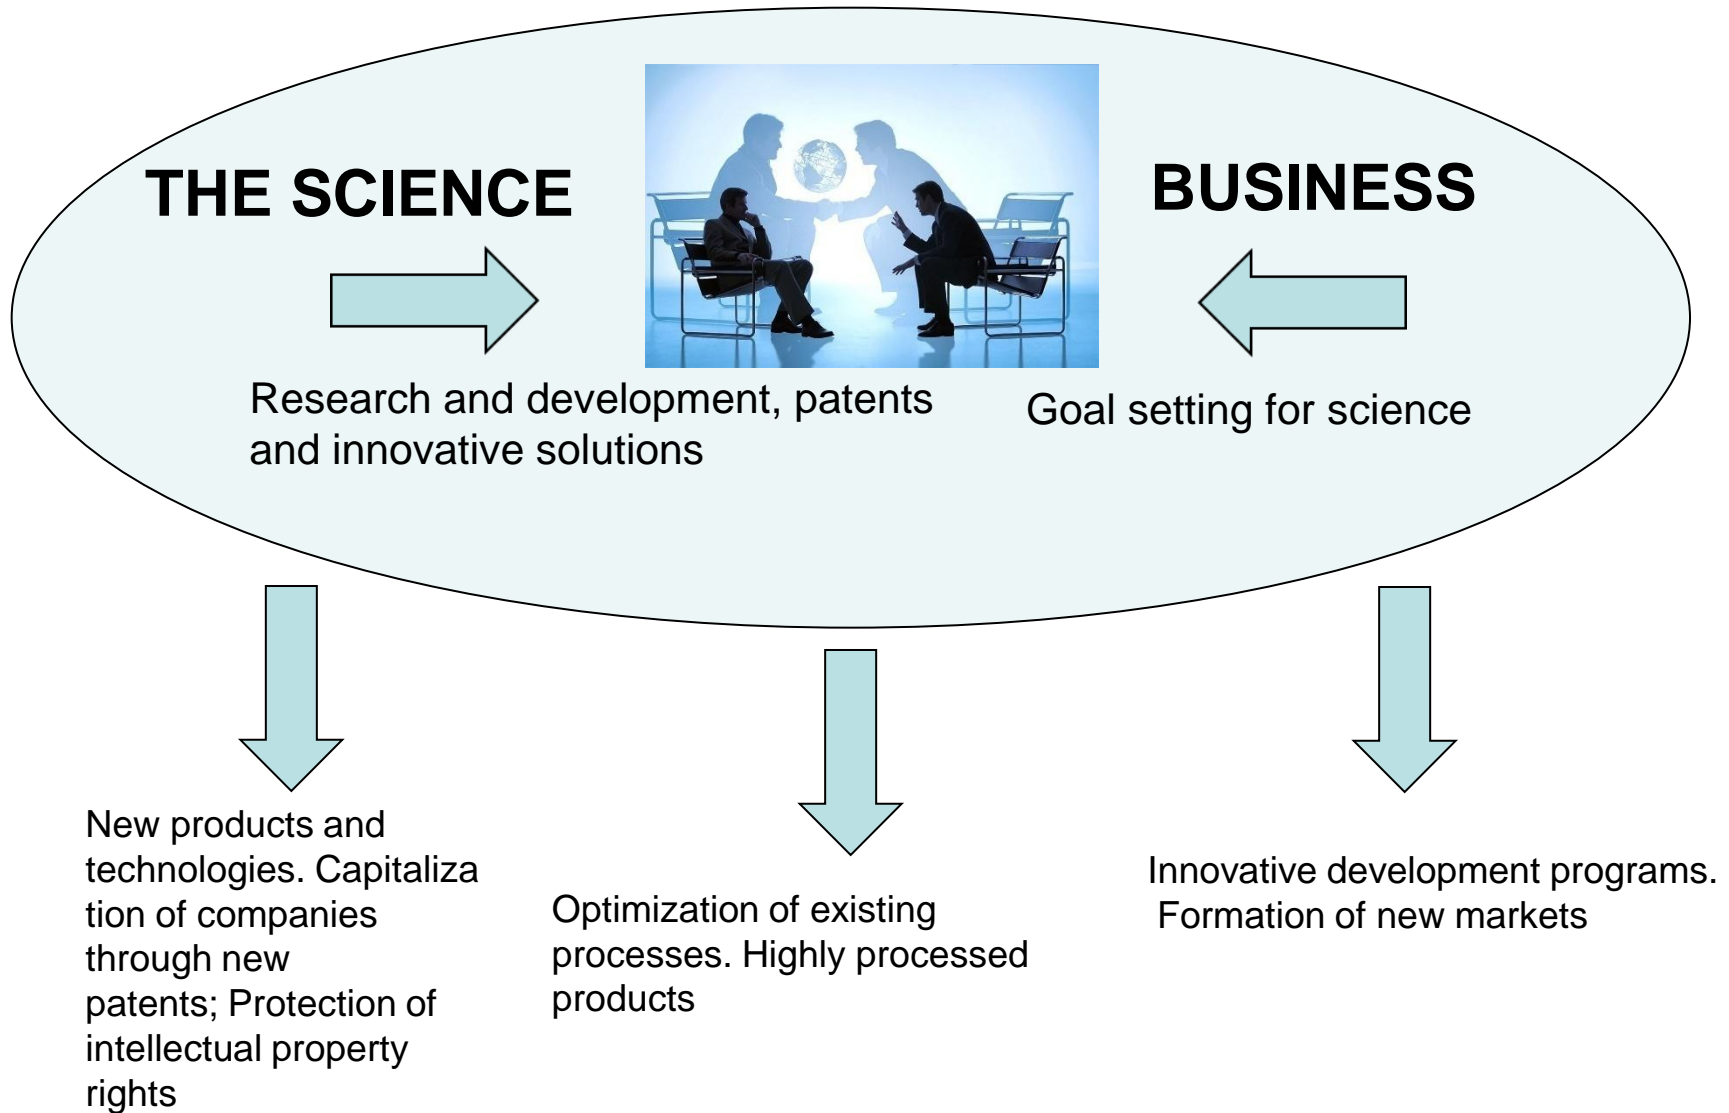

- coordination of work on scientific, technical and innovative programs related to the development of new products and technologies;
- development of international scientific and technical cooperation;
representing the interests of Russian companies and research centers when entering foreign markets; assistance to foreign companies in finding partners in the Russian Federation; promoting the development, production and export of high-tech products.

to contribute to the promotion of Russian chemical technologies on world markets and to ensure interaction between the participants;

- attracting investments in the interests of creating competitive samples of high-tech industrial products;

Scientific and technological development strategy

Science and Business"
Organization of interaction between business representatives and research centers to identify promising development projects. Conducting scientific, applied and analytical research

Business

"Lobbying" Organization of influence for the development and adoption of significant decisions on the competence of the Center, speaking in specialized committees of state bodies, as well as participation in various hearings, expert examination of draft laws, promotion of partners' interests with the aim of innovative development of the Russian economy. Cooperation with the media

State structures

The science

"Education" Training of scientific and technical personnel for scientific centers and industry. Professional development programs

Investors

"Expertise and Investments«
Expertise, analysis and evaluation of investment projects. Development of recommendations on promising areas of development. Expert assessment of investment areas

CENTER IRIAS

«The international cooperation»

UN tenders

"Technology"
Creation of laboratory and pilot installations. Development of new technological processes. Creation of joint laboratories

Business

Business, Investment companies - information about promising and new directions and projects, their expert assessment, the ability to carry out and control all commercial activities within the framework of this "project", solving current and future scientific and technical issues, obtaining advice and conducting analytical research, development of production, information on related industries and sales markets. Production optimization,

Investors

The science

Research centers - information about business problems, the opportunity to discuss their proposals with big business, receiving orders for scientific and technological work from business and from government agencies, participation in international projects, implementation and development of the process of education and training of specialists.

State structures

Ministries, departments, etc. - information about promising areas in science and business, the ability to conduct analytical studies, project analysis, consultations, planning development programs, assessing competitiveness.

The United Nations Industrial Development Organization (UNIDO) is a specialized agency within the United Nations system whose main purpose is to promote and accelerate industrial development.

UN tenders

The Center for International Industrial Cooperation in Russia is a subdivision of UNIDO designed to develop international economic, technological, industrial and scientific and technical cooperation of Russian organizations with partners from developed and developing countries.

The Center for International Industrial Cooperation in Russia carries out:

- selection, preparation and coordination of the implementation of UNIDO programs and projects, both in the Russian Federation and in UNIDO member countries;

- mobilization of investment resources for the implementation of various industrial investment projects in the Russian Federation, developing countries and countries with economies in transition through the creation of joint ventures, technology transfer, technological know-how, marketing experience, organizational support and other forms of business partnerships;

- assistance in establishing contacts between business representatives from developed and developing countries and Russian government agencies, research centers, the Chamber of Commerce, etc .;

- performs UNIDO representative functions in the Russian Federation.

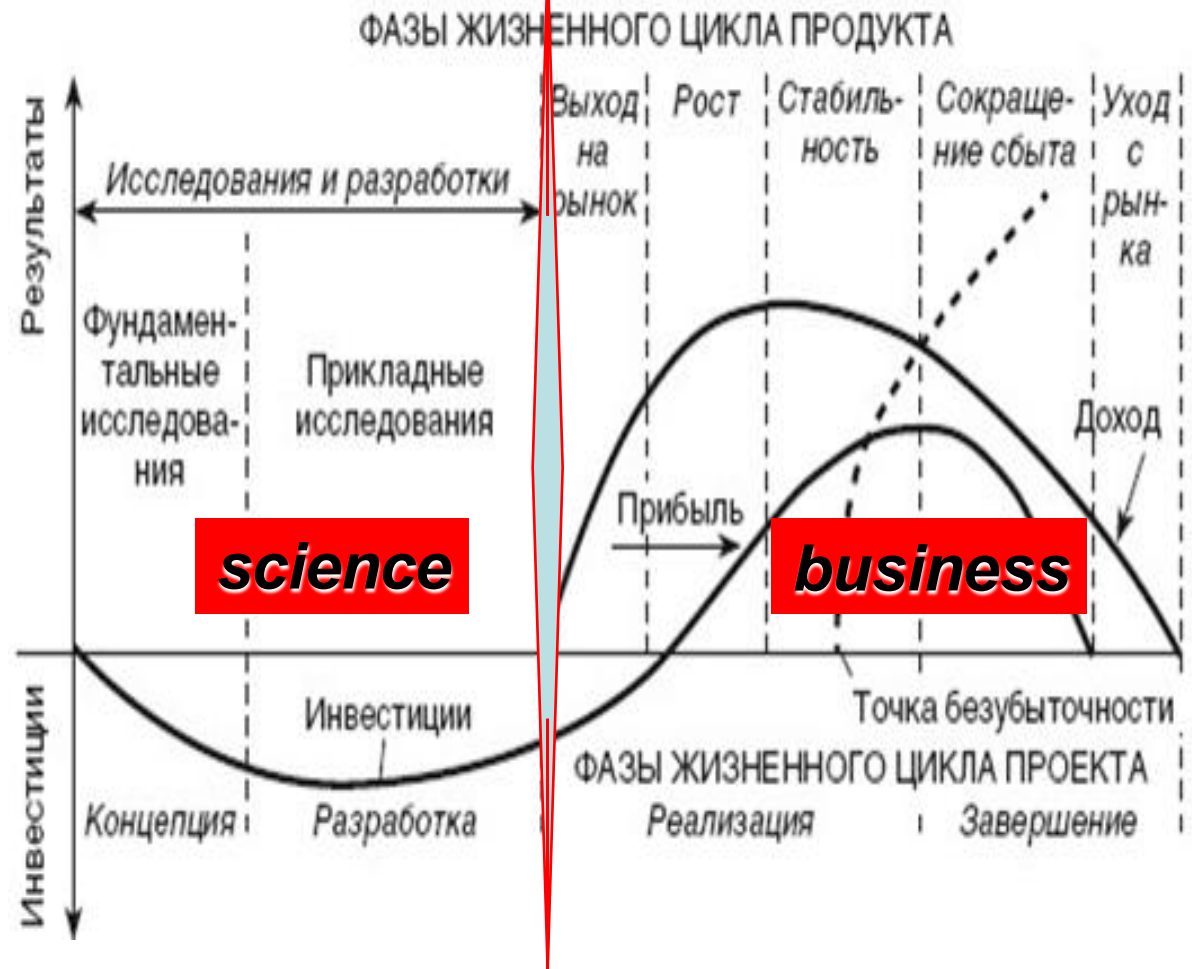

Coordination and benefits of working with Center

CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL INDUSTRIAL COOPERATION UNIDO IN THE RUSSIAN FEDERATION

Intellectual property that can be used to increase the company's capitalization

Domestic market

Foreign market

Round tables

Seminars

Conferences

Mass media

Center for Coordination of Scientific and Technological Cooperation Projects

We are always open for cooperation

Contacts:

117312 Russia, Moscow, prospect 60-letiya Oktyabrya,9

Тел: +7 (499) 783-3202, +7 916 688 6265

E-mail: mg@mniipu.org

<http://mniipu.org>